Greek counterstamps on Turkish coins

I

INTRODUCTION

by Costas Chr. Hadziotis,
ANA 61979
Athens, Greece

In January 1968, a short paper prepared by the author of the present article and entitled "Turkish Coins Bearing Greek Countermarks—(Unknown emergency issues?)" was published in a numismatic magazine.<sup>1</sup> The paper dealt with some strange countermarked coins, and the readers were invited to give some explanations or information concerning these coins.

The large interest created by that article was a real surprise to the author. In the May issue of the same magazine an article of Professor G. Arnakis<sup>2</sup> attempted to give some satisfactory answers to the questions arising from the paper, while letters from several other readers contributed much important information on this subject.<sup>3</sup> The contributor with the most elucidating information was Kenneth MacKenzie of Tenafly, New Jersey, who mentioned that these coins were already reported by two English numismatists, who had visited Greece during the last decades of the 19th or early in the 20th century<sup>4 5</sup>.

The next step was information kindly supplied by N. M. Lowick, assistant keeper at the British Museum, who stated that there were 37 Turkish countermarked coins in the museum's collection and he had arranged for a complete set of photos to be sent to the author. Several of these photos are now reproduced here to illustrate this paper, thanks to the permission kindly granted by the trustees of the British Museum.<sup>6</sup>

Then, in July 1968, the author visited Thasos, an island offshore from Macedonia, and he had the very good fortune to acquire a hoard of 699 coins in this category!

Based on these new figures the author felt it necessary to undertake a new research, the results of which are examined later on in this paper.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>5</sup>On this occasion the author feels obliged to express his most sincere thanks to Mr. MacKenzie, who kindly accepted to read and check the final typescript of this paper. Several corrections and improvements making the whole text much more clear and precise, are due to his careful study of this article.

<sup>6</sup>Although the British Museum's firm policy is to assist all numismatic researches by supplying photos, information and other relative material, the author wishes, however, to express here his special thanks not only to the Museum's Direction in general but also particularly to Mr. R. A. G. Carson and Mr. N. M. Lowick for their personal interest in assisting him promptly and efficiently.

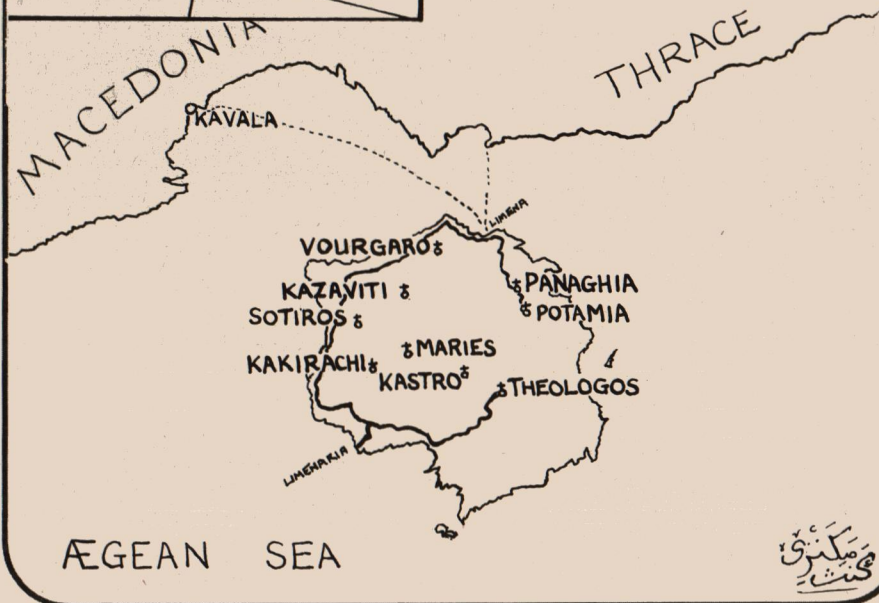

<sup>7</sup>It is necessary to be mentioned that this paper was ready for publication on October 1968 and appears only now with a delay of approximately two years due to unfortunate circumstances. In fact, the author felt that he should publish the results of his researches in the same magazine in which his first article had appeared and, thus, sent his manuscripts to the "North American Journal of Numismatics." However, this magazine did not appear again after March 1969 and all efforts that the author had undertaken in order to obtain the return of his manuscripts from the publisher of this magazine failed. Therefore, the article was rewritten from the very beginning and this, naturally, took a considerable time because the author had only a few of his original drafts.

OTTOMAN EMPIRE

II

THE ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL SITUATION OF THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE DURING ABD-UL-HAMID II REIGN

The Turkish Countermarked Coins in question are the result of the peculiar and confused economic and financial life of the Ottoman Empire during Abd-ül-Hamid's reign.<sup>8</sup> In fact, when Abd-ül-Hamid II came to the throne (1876), the whole situation of the Empire was very critical. On the political field an unlucky war against Russia had produced disastrous results, while on the economic field the Ottoman government was quite unable to deal satisfactorily with the constantly growing public debt. On October 6, 1875, the Sultan was obliged to announce the interruption of the servicing of the foreign debt and a few years later (December 12, 1881), the Empire's bankruptcy was confirmed with the establishment of the Otto-

<sup>8</sup>Further information on the economic and financial affairs of the Ottoman Empire can be found in the following fundamental and authoritative studies: C. MORAWITZ: "Les finances de Turquie"—Paris 1902, A. du VELAY: "Essai sur l'histoire financière de la Turquie"—Paris 1903, L. DELAYGUE: "Essai sur les finances Ottomanes"—Paris 1911, W. H. VALENTINE: "Modern Copper Coins of the Muhammadan States"—London 1911.

The Church of Potamia. The small building on the right (now in ruins) was the school. It functioned until a few years ago when classes were transferred to a new one. The old one was not destroyed since it symbolizes the very close ties existing between the orthodox church and the communities during the Turkish occupation.

manPublicDept Administration, composed almost entirely of the interested foreign shareholders' representatives. The mission of this institution was to insure the regular servicing of the foreign debt by exploiting various special sources of revenues such as the tobacco taxes, etc.<sup>9</sup>

Under these unfavorable conditions, the mintage of coins had practically ceased since 1876 and inflation appeared.<sup>10</sup>

The shortage of small denominations, on the other hand, created many difficulties in the daily life and affected the commerce especially in the small villages where this shortage was more vigorous. A solution had to be found, although the Ottoman government, preoccupied with other serious and burning problems, was not very concerned about this one.

<sup>9</sup>The first foreign loan of Turkey was issued on 1854 in order to meet the expenses of the war with Russia. It was contracted with Messrs Dent, Palmer & Co. of London and guaranteed by the tribute of Egypt. The nominal capital was L3.000.000 at an annual interest of 6% and the issue price 80% of the nominal one. Since 1854, fourteen foreign loans were contracted by the Ottoman Empire until 1873, representing a total amount of L156.981.783. The loan of year 1873 with a nominal capital of L28.000.000 had an issue price of only 54% while an earlier loan, the 1864 one, had an even lower issue price covering only the 47.5% of the nominal one! Under such unbelievably hard and disadvantageous conditions that the Ottoman Empire had to borrow from the International Capital Market, it is quite natural that a few years later, bankruptcy was the only remaining solution for the Sultan.

<sup>10</sup>During Abd-ül-Hamid's reign only a few 5 p. copper coins were struck but none of the 10, 20 and/or 40 p. coins. However, even the mintage of the 5 p. coinage ceased after 1879.

The Church at Panaghia. No changes have been made in years except for the bell tower, an addition made possible by a donation by a Greek living in America, whose father was born on the island.

III

THE SOURCES AND THE KIND OF LOCAL COINAGE IN THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE DURING THE 19th CENTURY

In these critical circumstances an emergency solution had to be found to cover even temporarily the existing shortage of minor coinage. And since the government was neither able nor prepared to give any solution, some local "authorities" decided to act under their own initiative.<sup>11</sup> These local "authorities" were of three categories:

a. The Christian Orthodox Church

<sup>11</sup>Despite all of the author's researches, he was unable to find out as to whether this initiative was undertaken under the permission of the Ottoman government or not. However, since these coins were usually used in only small and isolated villages, the author is inclined to accept that the whole operation was done without any previous consent of the government. On this point, it is to be noted that JOHN ff BAKER PENOYRE's statement (JOHN ff BAKER-PENOYRE: "Thasos-Part II Topography" in The Journal of Hellenic Studies—Vol XXIX-1909, p. 248) following which "The following nine villages of Thasos, Vourgaro, Kakirachi, Kazaviti, Kastro, Panaghia, Maries, Potamia, Sotiro and Theologos had till recently the right to superstrike the ordinary copper coinage of Turkey with seals of their respective churches" is not justified at all by any official document of the Ottoman Empire. On the contrary, F. W. HASLUCK's opinion (F. W. HASLUCK: "The Levantine Coinage" in Numismatic Chronicle—1921, p. 72) following which "these coinages which circulate in out-of-the way places, have for the most part no legal status" seems to the author as being correct.

b. The Municipalities

c. Various private companies.

Each of the above mentioned entities started by issuing its own "coins" or, in a more correct term, its own tokens. These issues were usually:

a. Turkish coins on which the "authority" stamped its own countermark.<sup>12</sup>

b. Small bronze or brass bracteates minted locally or, more often, abroad and,

c. Small cardboard pieces on which the "authority's" sign was stamped by a rubber stamp.

The above information is given by F. W. Hasluck in his very interesting article "Levantine Coinage."<sup>13</sup> Unfortunately, despite all efforts we have undertaken it has been impossible to find any token of categories (b) and (c). Therefore, we cannot guarantee the exactitude of this information although it seems that Hasluck's writings are based on his personal experience and, consequently, they must be of an undisputable authority.<sup>14</sup>

IV

VICINITY WITHIN WHICH THE LOCAL COINS WERE CIRCULATING

All of these tokens had only a very restricted local validity.<sup>15</sup> They were usually accepted within the area of a village although in some cases it is reported that tokens bearing the countermark of a village were found in another village sited a great distance from the other.<sup>16</sup> This "emigration," however does not necessarily prove that these tokens were freely circulating beyond the village in which they were originally counter-stamped; it can be explained, simply, by the fact that in some places there was a kind of "stock-exchange" where the various local coins were accepted and changed.<sup>17</sup> An additional argument supporting this belief is given by the fact that in several cases the coins bear countermarks of various villages.<sup>18</sup>

V

LIST OF VILLAGES THAT HAVE ISSUED LOCAL COINAGE

The villages that have used this strange kind of coinage seem to be of a very large number. Therefore, it is practically impossible to try to establish a complete list of all Turkish counter-stamped coins that have circulated during the last quarter of the 19th century. We can only say that in all except one case the population of these villages issuing local coinage was largely of Greek origin.<sup>19</sup>

If, however, we are unable to establish a complete list of all Turkish counter-

<sup>12</sup>Although we are describing in detail further below the coins used for this purpose, we have, however, to mention here that in some very rare cases foreign coins were countermarked too. In the author's collection there are three such coins.

<sup>13</sup>In this detailed and well documented paper, HASLUCK has included a whole paragraph dealing with the countermarked coinage in question (9: "The Modern Token Currencies of Turkey"—pp. 72-76).

<sup>14</sup>H. F. TOZER, who is the first to mention these coins (H. F. TOZER: "The Islands of Aegean"—Oxford 1890—pp. 295-296 for coinage of Thasos Island and pp. 336-337 for coinage of Samothrace Island) reports that: "The money that is in use in Samothrace is hardly less curious than that of Thasos. In default of small Turkish money, a paper currency has been established, consisting of small squares of thin cardboard, on which are printed the name of the island with that of the principal church, and the value of the piece."

<sup>15</sup>cf H. F. TOZER: op.cit., p. 295. ("Strange as it may seem, every village has its own peculiar coins, and these do not pass current outside the area of that village").

<sup>16</sup>F. W. HASLUCK: op.cit., p. 73. ("I found circulating at Bunar Hissar—Thrace—tokens of Samakovi and Midia, which are not only distant villages but have not even direct communication with Bunar Hissar, and the tokens of Erenkeui in the Troad pass freely alongside the municipal tokens in the Dardanelles").

<sup>17</sup>F. W. Tozer, for example, reports as such a place the small harbour of Thasos Limena "which forms a general emporium for the island" (p. 295).

<sup>18</sup>More than 30 coins of this category exist in the author's collection. The more common combination of countermarks is the one joining the Plomari stamp (ΔΠ = Municipality of Ploumari) to the Vourgaro one (ΚΒ). Other combinations occurring are: ΔΠ and ΚΑΑ, ΠΕ and ΚΒ etc.

marked coins, we can, at least, present a rather satisfactory classification of the villages that had issued this coinage. Such a classification, based on the geographical situation of each village could be somewhat the following:

1. Islands of the Aegean Sea:

- Thasos (nine villages) —Countermarked Turkish coins
- Samothrace —Paper money
- Samos —Bracteates
- Mytilini (Municipality of Ploumari) —Countermarked Turkish coins
- Kalymnos —?
- Nissyros —?

2. Eastern Thrace:

VI

TYPE OF COUNTERMARKS

The type of the countermarks and in general most of the inscriptions used on this coinage is a rather crude one. On this point, it is to be noted that the "reading" of these countermarks and/or inscriptions is a very difficult affair because, as a general rule, only the initial letters of the words are used. Thus, for example, the inscription AT means "Άγιος Γεώργιος" (St. George) and ΕΙΒ should be read "Εκκλησία Βουργάρου — Κοίμησις Θεοτόκου" (Church of Vourgaro-Repose of the Virgin).

Consequently, it is obvious that several problems arise and confusions are created, particularly because of the lack of any written document or other authoritative source explaining the real significance of each countermark.

For the time being, the author, although working on this, is not prepared as yet to present a comprehensive general list with explanations of the so numerous countermarks and/or inscriptions of this coinage. Therefore, he is obliged to limit his report to only the coins of Thasos island for which he believes he has succeeded in preparing a rather complete classification, hoping, however, that in a paper, probably to be published later this year, he will have the opportunity to extend this list by including, at least, the coinage of all islands of the Aegean Sea.

<sup>19</sup>To give some examples, Genna (in the Kirk-Kilisse region) had a population of approximately 2,000 people, all of them being of Greek origin; Midia (in this same region) had a 100% population of Greek origin (1,500 inhabitants); more than 2,500 people on a total of 4,000 were of Greek origin in the village Bunar Hissar.

These villages with their pure and secular Greek character do not exist anymore. Following the Greco-Turkish war of 1920-1922 an exchange of populations was decided (treaty of Lausanne 1923) under which more than 1,500,000 of Greeks living within the boundaries of Turkey had to emigrate to Greece.

<sup>20</sup>This is the only known case of a non-Greek "authority" issuing local coinage of this type. In fact, Ermeni Keui was a village whose population was of Armenian origin.

THE COUNTERMARKED COINS OF THASOS<sup>21</sup>

1. Geographic Situation and History:

Thasos is a mountainous island of the Thracian Sea, offshore from Macedonia. Actually less than 15,000 people are living on the island but during the 19th century, the population was much more numerous and the island's economy flourishing, at least when compared to the extremely underdeveloped economy of continental Greece.

Thasos was lucky enough to be practically an almost autonomous state since 1814 when the Sultan Mahmoud II had granted to the Viceroy of Egypt, the famous Mohamed Ali Pasha, the island's revenues as a gift for the suppression of the Wahabites' uprising in the Arabian provinces. Since Mohamed Ali had practically not imposed taxes at all and the Turks did not have the right to ask the islanders for any other payment except the military tax and import duties, Thasos was able to develop its natural sources of wealth, mainly the agriculture and the wood production.

The population of the island was living in nine villages. These villages were all situated in a long distance from the seaside because of the fear of the pirates who, during the early centuries, invaded the island frequently. There was only a small harbour on the northern coast called Limena through which all communications with the mainland and the other islands were maintained.

The nine villages were:<sup>22</sup> Panaghia (1900), Vourgaro (1025), Potamia (750), Kastro (1430), Kazaviti (1130), Kakirachi (1510), Theologos (2225), Sotiros (355), Maries (800).

2. Type of countermarks:

Each of the above nine villages has, probably during the year 1883-1893, countermarked, by its own stamp. Turkish copper coins (40, 20, 10 and 5 paras) of Abdül Medjid and Abdul Aziz.<sup>23</sup> The known to us countermarks are the following:<sup>24</sup>

<sup>21</sup>In the May-August 1969 (nos 3 & 4) issue of the "Obol," a quarterly magazine appearing in Chicago, a short but interesting paper prepared by Mr. Patrick D. Hogan was published (pp. 20-23). This paper dealt with the countermarked coins of Thasos Island and a tentative list of all known coins of this category was given. However, this list was quite incomplete because Mr. P. D. Hogan was unaware of the existence of the hoard of the 699 Thasian coins that the author of the present article acquired in July 1968.

<sup>22</sup>The figures for each village refer to the population and are based on calculations which are given by Th. SCHINAS: "Travelling Notes on Macedonia, Epirus, New Boundaries and Thessaly"—Athens 1885-1887 (in Greek). More recent statistical data are, of course, available but it was considered as more interesting to give the population existing in Thasos during the period that the coins we describe in this paper were countermarked and circulating.

<sup>23</sup>F. W. HASLUCK (op.cit., p. 72) has incorrectly reported that only Abd-ül-Modjid's (1800) coins were countermarked. See also above note 11 regarding other than Turkish coins countermarked.

<sup>24</sup>Photos Nos 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 are reproduced by the courtesy of the Trustees of the British Museum; photo no 17 was kindly supplied by Mr. Holland Wallace; photos nos 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 9, 10 and 18 are from the author's collection.

There are some further countermarks on coins which, on being found in Thasos, it must be concluded that they, too, were circulating in that island but the "reading" of these is still quite uncertain. These countermarks are the following:

a.  (photo No. 16)

c.  (photo No. 18)

While for the countermarks (b) and (c) no explanation can be given, the author concluded that countermark (a) belongs to the village Theologos and is a monogram of the words "Αγία Παρασκευή" (Saint Paraskevi), the name of the saint honoured in the church of the village.

3. The "Reading" of the countermarks:

Following the opinions of H. F. Tozer, J. Baker-Penoyre and F. W. Hasluck, the above described countermarks should be read as follows:

4. "Authorities" issuing the coinage of Thasos:

As it is obvious from the "reading" of the countermarks of the coins that have circulated in Thasos, the Church of the respective village is always mentioned in each case. Therefore, there is no doubt that <sup>25</sup>There is a slightly different "reading" on the letter "E" of the countermark of Vourgaro between H. F. TOZER (considering this as the initial of the word Εγγορια = Committee) and J. ff BAKER-PENOYRE (believing it as the initial of the word Εκκλησια = Church).

<sup>26</sup>This is the reason why the author has entitled a detailed study that he is preparing on this local coinage (in the Greek language) "Church Coinage of Thasos Island," which will be published in Athens in 1970 or 1971.

the superstriking "authority" were the various churches<sup>26</sup> although, taking into consideration the very close links which existed within the Ottoman Empire between the Orthodox Church and the Municipalities of villages with population of Greek origin, it might be more fair to conclude that this was a combined operation.

CONCLUSIONS

As stated above, this is an initial attempt to solve the problem of countermarked Turkish coins. The author's intention is to continue his researches on this field until a satisfactory knowledge covering all aspects of this obsolete and strange coinage is acquired. To this end, all readers and collectors, who have contributed till now to the elucidation of the problem in such a positive way, are invited to continue offering their assistance.

This is the only way to reach to a definite and satisfactory result. The author feels obliged to express to them in advance his gratitude and, once again, his most sincere thanks to the British Museum, as well as to Kenneth MacKenzie, (Tenafly, New Jersey), Holland Wallace (Racine, Wisconsin), and Mr. Patrick D. Hogan, (Iowa), for their continuous and invaluable help.

Herbert M. Bergen President

The 1970 ANA convention in St. Louis was a complete success. There were no serious complaints during or after the meeting. On the other hand, there were countless compliments from members, dealers and visitors. A large measure of credit for this goes to the St. Louis convention committee under the leadership of David Cooper.

The record will show that this convention will set an example for future conventions. This is one that will be hard to equal. As such it will be long remembered.

This convention will also be remembered as outstanding in ANA history because it was at the final business meeting that the Director of the United States Mint, Mrs. Mary Brooks, appeared to make the first public announcement that the Treasury Department had authorized the Bureau of the Mint to establish a numismatic service or agency, a service that ANA has been seeking for many years. To get this service was one of the several goals set at the beginning of the past year. We are thrilled and proud to know that this goal has been reached. Not only the ANA members but all coin collectors and numismatists will be happy over this achievement.

The person selected by the Director of the Mint to take charge of the numismatic service, first to be operated at the Philadelphia Mint and soon afterward at the Denver Mint also, is Charles Hoskins, a member of ANA and until he accepted his job at the Mint, the Director of the Money Museum in Detroit. The ANA is proud to know that one of its leading members was chosen. We know that he can fill this important position to the satisfaction of all concerned.

All of us in ANA are extremely thankful to Mrs. Brooks for all that she has done to bring about the establishment of the numismatic service during her first year in office. We are thankful also for the assistance given by other Treasury officials and for the initial efforts by her predecessor, Miss Eva Adams, while she was Director of the Mint. We in ANA will do all we can to be helpful and to cooperate with those who will direct the operation of the numismatic service.

The St. Louis convention also marked another milestone in numismatics when it was announced at the final business meeting by Abe Kosoff for the trustees of ANAT that they had passed the goal of $50,000 set for establishing the authentication service which ANA has agreed to take over and operate. This was another goal that was set for accomplishment during 1970 and we are happy and proud to know that it has been attained.

The plans for placing the authentication service in operation will be developed as rapidly as possible and we hope that it will be ready to go by the end of 1970. Meanwhile, we ask that members do what they can to add to the fund that we have as a starter. The more money we have to work with the better the service that can be rendered.

Charles M. Johnson Receives Farran Zerbe Award at St. Louis

Charles M. Johnson, an immediate past governor of ANA, and best remembered as the man who chaired the Home and Headquarters committee successfully raising the necessary funds to build the ANA headquarters in Colorado Springs, has been awarded the coveted Farran Zerbe Award, the association's highest. The award was presented at the closing banquet at the 79th anniversary convention in St. Louis.

To best cover the obvious reasoning behind the 1970 presentation, reproduced here are the words of the citation read by President Herbert Bergen to the guests present when making the award to former governor Johnson:—

"By the authority of the Board of Governors of the American Numismatic Association, I take great pleasure in informing you that you have been awarded the Farran Zerbe Award for distinguished service to the association.

"You will best be remembered for all time to come as the man responsible for the success in raising the funds necessary to build and to furnish the national headquarters of the American Numismatic Association in Colorado Springs. This was done despite heavy opposition as to the location, and no small amount of skepticism that the necessary funds could be raised.

"Your other contributions to the association and to the hobby should not be overshadowed by that achievement alone. You have dedicated many years of service to the ANA. You were a member of the board of governors for the 1960 decade. You served on many committees donating a great deal of time and effort. However, this work is eclipsed by the dedication of your chairmanship on the Gifts &

Bequests Committee and, of course, the Home and Headquarters Committee.

"During your tenure as a governor for the association, you also found time to dedicate and offer your services to many state and regional associations including the California State Numismatic Association, the Numismatic Association of Southern California, and the Long Beach Coin Club where you are now listed as a past president.

"Joining the American Numismatic Association in 1951, you have earned the Amon Carter Paper Money Award, the Heath Literary Award, and a special award as head of the Home and Headquarters Committee.

"You have helped the field of numismatic education as Chairman of the ANA Reprint Committee which edited and published the 4 volumes of reprints in 1960. During your collecting career you showed a profound interest in numismatic literature and possess a most extensive library.

"You have been described by fellow governors as one of the most dedicated workers for the betterment of ANA, and in recognition we are proud today to present to you the highest award of the American Numismatic Association—the Farran Zerbe Award."

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Beginning in 1861, with the issuance of the first United States notes intended to circulate as money, our Nation's paper currency has been printed from plates made from steel engravings. This process, which is called intaglio, has the inherent quality of fidelity of image and a distinctive third-dimensional effect in the finished product which provide the greatest deterrence to counterfeiting.

This souvenir sheet embodies in collage form reproductions of portions of notes produced over the years which well exemplify the many facets of the engraver's art and the printer's skill for quality rendition.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, under the directorship of James A. Conlon, provided a numismatic exhibit at the recent American Numismatic Convention held August 18-22 in St. Louis. In addition, bureau personnel demonstrated the art of intaglio printing on a hand press and a souvenir sheet incorporating a numismatic theme was made available to the public.

The souvenir sheet, printed in color, embodies in collage form reproductions of portions of notes produced over the years which exemplifies the many facets of the engraver's art and printer's skill for quality rendition.

The sheets were initially offered for sale at $1.00 each at the Bureau's exhibit at the ANA Convention. The response was tremendous and several hundred copies were sold. These souvenir sheets, however, may still be procured by mail from the bureau. Orders are limited to not more than five (5) copies per customer.

Mail requests, accompanied by the proper remittance in the form of check or money order should be addressed to the Office Service Branch, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, D.C., 20226. The transmittal envelope should be marked "ANA Souvenir Sheet."

All orders should be submitted on a standard-size lettersheet. Purchasers should make sure that their name, address and zip code are plainly included on their requests.

St. Louis Earns Best Show Laurels

The most difficult part of any successful convention comes not in the preparation nor presentation but in the news coverage afterwards. How can one capture the excitement, the hustle and bustle, the commotion, the countless thrills of so successful a show as the ANA's 79th anniversary convention and put it down for the record on cold paper and hard type? It's an impossible assignment.

If ever there is a book to be written on "How to Conduct a Coin Convention," St. Louis must be the model. The show was perfection in planning and arrangement. It showed what can be done with perfect coordination and cooperation between general chairman and committees. St. Louis — 1970 has to go down in the association annals as the best run show to date.

If you missed the convention, we can only extend our sympathies and request that you read on. If you were fortunate enough to have been one of the 6247 registrants, first our congratulations, and then our invitation to stay with us and recapture a few of the great moments.

Although the convention did not officially open until Tuesday, August 18, there were as many familiar faces in the hotel lobby on Sunday preceeding the show as there have been at entire meetings of yesteryear. Of course, the Professional Numismatists Guilds hold an annual bourse and get-together the day prior to the official opening of the annual ANA convention, but far more than just dealers were present. Mr. Philpott of the Credentials Committee would have found enough present to constitute a quorum and get the convention underway days ahead of time.

Sunday found the convention workers very busy, bourse tables were being set up, the security room had already been established, the exhibit area was set, cases cleaned and assigned, broken glass replaced, guards getting final instructions, and the St. Louis convention people were working in well organized precision. It was almost like they had been holding an annual ANA convention weekly.

Tuesday, August 18

By now hundreds of people were wearing their convention badges, new friends were being made, old acquaintances were renewed. Many we hadn't seen since Philadelphia, but it seemed like only yesterday. As the list of ANA conventions past grows, the time between them seems to shorten. More conventions, more people, more friends.

The bourse opened early this morning, dealers were placing their wares in cases hopeful of the week ahead of them. By Saturday, none were disappointed for all reported better than anticipated sales.

For the first time a news room had been established for the working press and within hours this became the heart of the convention. The pulse beat and the excitement, whatever was going on for the day, the newsmen, both local and numismatic, could get his story here.

A ribbon cutting ceremony formally opened the convention to the public. The infinite details were not overlooked. It seems that nothing was on the part Dave Cooper and Bernice Stevenson, general chairman and assistant general chairman respectively.

The ribbon stretched across a replica of St. Louis' famous Gateway to the West Arch. The ribbon—dollar bills, what else. Representing the city of St. Louis was the president of the board of aldermen, Joseph L. Badaracco. On hand was the entire board of governors of the ANA including President Bergen. Doing a dual role was Vice President John Jay Pittman. As president of the Canadian Numismatic Association, Pittman officially represented our neighbor society to the north.

The exhibit area had not officially opened and yet there was tremendous activity there as collectors mounted their displays vying for the awards to be presented later in the week. Exhibitors were not alone in the area, though; secret service men and Treasury workers prepared the fabulous billion-dollar display. The general public was to be treated to a great display and to an intimate peek on how paper money is printed. An old intaglio press was put into operation printing actual currency during the course of the convention. No samples.

There were the usual tours of the city, the private parties in the various suites and throughout the hotel. The mood was being set for the convention—one tremendous time.

Wednesday, August 19

Time to get down to serious business, the first business meeting was held this morning at 10:30. Congresswoman Leonor Sullivan, (D-Mo.), member of the House Banking and Currency Committee, told the assembled members that, "it would be appropriate for us to once again consider the question of future commemorative coins." Through an advance copy of her speech, the entire talk was featured in last month's edition of The Numismatist.

There was a lot of hustle and bustle around the Chase-Park Plaza swimming pool. A swimming party had been arranged for the Young Numismatists, along with a social hour. As it is with the youngsters today, the "hour" ran from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m., and it was well attended.

The Organization of International Numismatists had their educational forum this evening. Moderated by the ever present Maurice Gould, the panel included Thomas W. Becker, Valentine Pasvolksy, and Ben Wall.

There was a St. Louis Grand Tour during the day, along with visits to the National Museum of Transport and the Charlotte Peters show. RARCOA conducted the initial session of the bourse. Sales generally reflected the trend of the convention—excellent.

Thursday, August 20

The convention has already reached mid-point, hours have passed like minutes and everything seems to blend together. We continue to meet old friends, but now we hesitate in our greetings. Is this the first time we've seen them at the show, or has it been a whole year?

The fringe groups continue to have their meetings and their separate programs. It is impossible for one person to attend everything. Sometimes you feel cheated in not being able to be in two places at one time.

Tonight was the Big Night for many—the ANA educational forum. Planned a year in advance by the committee, in a short half-hour per speaker each delivers a program that has taken hundreds of hours and years of experience to prepare.

We heard Mrs. Virginia Culver, ANA governor, speak on "Civil War Copperheads;" Kenneth Bressett, "Coins and Religion—Facts and Fables;" and Maurice M. Gould (again), "Massachusetts Coins and Currency." Forum moderator was Eric P. Newman.

Following tradition the Old Time Assayers Club, composed of members of former U.S. Assay Commissions, held their once a year gathering and social hour.

Friday, August 21

This was the only forty-eight hour day of the convention. The ANA District Representatives Breakfast opened the day with chairman of the D.R. program, Governor Glenn Smedley, presiding.

There was a 9 a.m. brewery tour! Enough said.

The Young Numismatists of ANA held their general meeting, as did International Organization of Wooden Money Collectors, the Elongated Collectors, the Society of Paper Money Collectors, the Numismatic Literary Guild, the Token and Medal Society social hour and banquet, and the TGIF club. Pity the collector who has a diversity of interests.

In between was squeezed the ANA Exhibit and Judging Symposium headed by ANA governor, Richard Long, followed by the awards presentation ceremonies.

Here we saw the Heath Literary Awards presented, the coveted Medals of Merit, one for Maurice M. Gould, and one for Henry Grunthal. More on these two presentations later. National Coin Week plaques were presented to the winners of this world-wide competition. And so were the numerous Young Numismatists awards.

One hundred and fifty-six members, and seven coin clubs were eligible to receive 25-year continuous membership awards.

During the day members still found time to tour the famous St. Louis Zoo, cruise the Mississippi on a riverboat, attend the third session of the ANA auction, and visit Grant's Farm.

And Friday was only one day long.

Saturday, August 22

Not much time left to visit the bourse area. Dealers had to close down early this afternoon, for this is where the banquet will be held this evening. An impossible transition—tear down 122 booths, clean up and have banquet tables set for over 600 guests. It was down and in less than two hours, at that.

Needless to say, the banquet was not only the highlight of the day, it was the crowning achievement of the convention. The well deserved laurels to the committee people, the committee chairmen, the host club, were presented, but everyone felt that words alone could not express the sentiment of a show well done. It will take several issues of The Numismatist to fully cover the story. If you found names omitted in this story, you'll find them in print next month. The convention was scheduled too close to deadline time for this edition to cover in depth all convention events. And since this should be the convention to serve as a guide on "How to Successfully Conduct an ANA Convention," then no moment will be left unreported. It was too big a show for such a small magazine to cover in one edition.

CHANGING FACES

Miss Eva Adams, who was appointed by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson for two terms as 29th Director of the United States Mint, has been named a director of the Medallie Art Company of New York City.

Miss Adams will be directly involved in a number of special projects, according to an announcement by William T. Louth, president of the 70-year old medal manufacturing firm. Among these projects will be to increase the use of anniversary medals by prominent American cities and states, already a large part of the company's fine art medal business.

Also, Miss Adams will be available particularly in the Washington, D.C. area where she maintains her office, for consultation with government agencies, associations and business firms. In this capacity, Miss Adams will be of benefit for the various medallie programs planned for the coming Bicentennial of American Independence in 1976.

The announcement further stated Miss Adams will take an active part in the numismatic activities of the company and will aid in planning and developing medallie items of a commemorative nature, primarily for numismatic, civic and governmental organizations.

As stated in the announcement these activities were specified by Louth to include consultation on presidential inaugural medals (the company has produced the official medal for the last five presidential inaugurations), medals for the executive branch of government, for official receptions and visiting dignitaries, for campaigns, dedications, world's fairs and expositions.

At present Miss Adams is a consultant to the chairman of the board of Mutual of Omaha, and a director of its subsidiary, Tele-Trip Company, Inc.

Ohaus Scale Corporation, of Florham Park, New Jersey, one of the nation's oldest manufacturers of precision laboratory balances, has just announced the appointment last September of F. Morton Reed, Wooster, Ohio, as their technical consultant in the design and development of the Numi-Scale, a highly sensitive instrument for the detection of counterfeit coinage.

Reed is a nationally recognized coinologist and the author of "Cowles Complete Encyclopedia of U.S. Coins." He is well known to both American and Canadian numismatists for his educational panel—Coinology, a weekly feature in Coin World and his syndicated column—Money Clips, distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Association to over 250 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

As an expert in the field of counterfeit and unlawful coinage, he will conduct seminars on the use of the Numi-Scale to representatives of law enforcement agencies, banking firms and members of certified numismatic organizations. Arrangements for these seminars may be made through the Ohaus Scale Corporation, Florham Park, New Jersey; Paramount International Coin Corporation, Englewood, Ohio or Coin World in Sidney, Ohio.

Jack Veffler, president of the Canadian Paper Money Society, has announced the following appointments: W.H. McDonald has been appointed editor to take over the post vacated by Fred Jewett who resigned because of other commitments. McDonald is a founding officer of the society and an officer of a Canadian chartered bank for many years.

Summer Session at Colorado College Termed A Success for the ANA

The decision was unanimous, the students called it a "tremendous success." The ANA summer seminar is now history, but its success can be credited to the enthusiasm of the students, among them: William S. Wright, C. R. Cooperider, Lou Jamme, William D. Hyder, Ed Fleischmann, Richard B. Ahlquist, Janice B. Beck, William E. Anderson, Howard E. Bailey, H. W. Litwiler, James N. Gates, Charles E. Nicholas, Margaret Frantz, William Swoger, George R. Elbode, Mark P. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Sam F. Seibert, and D. L. Cooper. Also participating were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Bergen, the president and first lady of ANA.

The instructors included Virgil Hancock, John L. Hunter, Paul Whitnah, Maurice M. Gould, William C. Henderson, and Al C. Overton. Seminar coordinator was Ed Rochette.

The description of the seminar was well put into words by Ed Fleischmann, a staff member of Coin World. His story follows:—

STUDENTS LISTEN AND LEARN

BY ED FLEISCHMANN

The American Numismatic Association's second annual summer seminar is now history, but its effects on the students will last the rest of their lives.

The week-long seminar was conducted at beautiful Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colorado. It provided the students with the opportunity to examine some very deceptive counterfeits. Some of the "coins" that were used as study material defrauded collectors of sums ranging as high as $3,000.

The students came from all walks of life; some are collectors, others are dealers. Several paid the entire cost alone, while others were sent by a group of coin clubs. All had one common interest—to learn how to detect counterfeits, and then take that knowledge back Binocular microscopes enabled the students to study the surfaces of coins, an important factor in determining counterfeits. Here we see Howard Bailey studying a gold dollar.

Paramount International, Englewood, Ohio, loaned scales to the seminar and here can be seen some of the students preparing a specific gravity test to determine the metallic content of a coin in question.

Instructor Virgil Hancock captured the interest of students from morning 'till night. Some, as we see here, actually came back after classes in the evenings for more study.

home to share with others.

The seminar started with a get-acquainted hour in Loomis Hall at Colorado College on Sunday evening, July 12.

On Monday morning the class was welcomed to Colorado Springs by Bill Henderson, president of the Pikes Peak National Bank and ANA treasurer, the welcome to Colorado College was given by G. Straus. Herbert Bergen, ANA president, gave a welcome address on behalf of the ANA and officially opened the seminar.

Four instructors kept the students busy with laboratory experiments and lectures; classwork ranged from the various types of materials and techniques employed in counterfeiting, to actual lab demonstrations of the various tests that can be used to detect bogus coins.

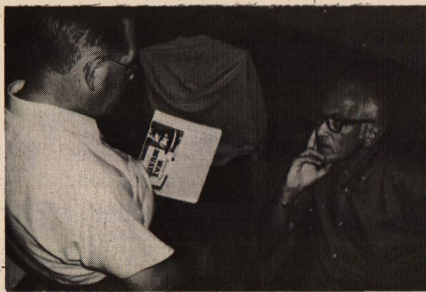

Virgil Hancock, Bellaire, Texas, was the head instructor; he is recognized widely for his work on the detection of counterfeit and altered coins, and is one of the trustees of the American Numismatic Authentication Trust (ANAT). He also conducted many of the lab experiments and gave lectures.

Maurice Gould is a well-known numismatic lecturer and columnist, renowned for his work on early American Colonial coinage.

John Hunter, a coin dealer from Harper Woods, Michigan, collects numismatic books, makes studies of bogus coins, and other service organizations. John lectured on modern gold and silver counterfeits.

Paul Whitnah, vitally concerned with the effects of counterfeiting, lectured on the effect of counterfeiting on the young collector.

Two field trips precluded the possibility of anyone getting bored with "all work and no play." The first trip was a tour of the Denver Mint. Thanks to Mrs. Higby, Superintendent of the Denver Mint, Colo., Adna Wilde, ANA executive director and Ed Rochette, ANA public relations officer (and editor of The Numismatist), the students were given guided tours on the floor of the mint where they could see how United States coins are made.

Mark Sawyer discusses an interesting subject with Maurice Gould, one of the instructors, and a top name in numismatics today.

Maurice Gould heads the class here. Classroom facilities were provided the seminar by Colorado College. CC also provided for the housing and feeding of the students.

Instructor Virgil Hancock poses a question for the superintendent of the mint during the visit to her office in Denver.

After an excellent lunch at the fabled Brown Palace in Denver, the students toured the Historical Society Museum where they saw an exhibit of Clark-Gruber minting equipment.

Clark-Gruber & Co. established a private mint in Denver because of the cost of transportation and insurance on Here Al Overton utilized a makeshift megaphone after the address system on the school bus failed. Al lectured the group on Leshor Referendum Dollars prior to their visit to Victor, Colorado. Regretfully, none were found by the students during their visit.

Students prepare for the descent into the El Paso Gold Mine, the only operating mine left in the Cripple Creek region. Fifty years ago over 500 mines were in operation at one time.

Just a few of the coins that the students had to study and determine whether or not the coins were genuine.

gold dust shipments was prohibitive. This firm made the words "Pikes Peak Gold" famous by including those words on their coins, though little, if any, of the gold came from Pikes Peak.

One of the field trips took the students to Victor, Colorado, where the Leshor Referendum Dollars originated. The small building in the center was the site of the Victor Record where Lowell Thomas once worked as a newspaperman.

Highlight of the visit to the Denver Mint was a confab with the superintendent, Mrs. Betty Higby, in her office. The talk ranged from "mint errors" to coinage of the future.

The line up! Students pose for class picture following "graduation" exercises on Saturday morning. A certificate of completion was presented to all the students.

The second field trip was a tour of the El Paso Gold mine in Cripple Creek.

Bill Henderson gave a running lecture during the bus trip to the popular tourist city. He covered much of the history of early Colorado during the gold rush days.

After a lunch of "miners stew" at the Home Cafe and an hour of poking around town, the students piled back into the bus for a trip to Victor, Colorado.

Al C. Overton, probably best known for his book on early American half dollar die varieties, lectured on the Leshner Referendum dollars during the ride. The Leshner dollars were made in Denver, but Victor had the distinction of having been the place of distribution.

Never again will the seminar students think of coins without thinking of counterfeits—the effects of their stay in Colorado Springs will be imparted, hopefully, to their fellow collectors for a long time.

This was one of my thoughts as the class received its certificates on Saturday morning, July 18, and the second annual ANA seminar was completed.

NEW & RECENT ISSUES

by Ernst Kraus, LM 129

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Room 939 (include room number in address), 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 10001. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

ARGENTINA

Argentina has been one of the few South American countries to successfully combat inflation. From 1960 through 1967, the rate of inflation averaged well over 25% per year. In 1968, it was reduced to less than 10% and since has continued further downward. The stringent policies of the present administration in regards to monetary matters has been credited with the success. Measures included empowering the central bank to issue, not later than January 1, 1970, a new monetary unit. The new peso is equivalent to 100 of the old and a new definitive issue of coins and currency has been introduced into circulation.

All struck at Buenos Aires Mint.

BIAFRA

The Nigerian Civil War ended earlier this year with secessionist Biafra province failing to achieve independence. The war, however, lasted four years and resulted in untold deaths and suffering. To assert its sovereignty during the course of the war, Biafra issued its own coins and currency. The following coin had not been previously reported.

Y-4. 2½ shillings, 1969. Aluminum. Obverse: An African lion lying to left; date and value below, 1969 / 2½ / SHILLINGS;

legend around, REPUBLIC OF BIAFRA. Reverse: Coat of arms of Biafra—a palmtree in center, rising sun in background, and African ornament framing same; legend below, PEACE - UNITY - FREEDOM. Diameter 22mm. Weight 2.8 grams. Edge plain.

CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

The Cape Verde Islands form a crescent-shaped archipelago off the west coast of Africa. Comprising some 14 islands with a total area of approximately 1500 square miles, Cape Verde is an overseas province of Portugal and, as such, is entitled to its own coinage and currency. Discovered about 30 years before the discovery of America, the islands came into prominence as a collecting point for the slave trade that flourished until our Civil War.

SOUTH AFRICA

World traveller, Mark E. Freehill, of New South Wales, who advised of the three following issues, writes that new 10-cent coins with South Africa's new coat-of-arms are presently being struck at the mint in Pretoria. The new series will replace that bearing the portrait of Charles R. Swart. The reverse designs to remain the same.

Reverse: two sparrows on branch; value 1/2 above; designer's initials T.S. at lower right. Diameter 16mm. Weight 1.8 grams. Edge milled.

URUGUAY

Reflecting Uruguay's runaway inflation of the late 1960s, two new high denomination coins have been placed in circulation earlier this year—a 20-pesos entered trade in May 1970, and a 50-pesos in July. Although stringent controls held the rate of inflation to less than 10% last year, in 1967-68 the country saw an inflation surge exceeding 100% per year.

Y-51. 20 pesos, 1970. Alpaca (.70 copper, .15 nickel, and .15 zinc). Obverse: Coat-of-arms in center; legend REPÚBLICA

ORIENTAL DEL URUGUAY around; mintmark S for Santiago divides date 19 70. Reverse: Three spikes of wheat at right; value 20 PESOS at left. Diameter 21.5mm. Weight 3.75 grams. Edge milled.

Y-52. 50 pesos, 1970. Alpaca. Obverse: Similar to preceding. Reverse: Similar to preceding except for value. Diameter 24.

numismatic vignettes

- When this bank-note collector buys a scarce foreign coin, that is news. When the coin is one of the works of Victor D. Brenner, that is news. And when the coin bears the Paris Mint mark but was not struck there, that is stranger than fiction. Does any reader know of another coin (except 3 smaller denominations of the same series and date) that was struck in a mint other than the one whose mint mark it bears?

The dies for the 1897 peso, half-peso, 20 and 10 centavos of the Dominican Republic were made in Paris and bore the Paris Mint mark (A) but the coins were struck in the Philadelphia Mint of base silver.

- Of the eight precious metals, gold is about 7 times rarer than silver, the most plentiful. But the least plentiful, osmium, is 1600 times rarer than gold. Osmium has the highest density of all the elements, is very hard and unworkable, and has the high melting point of 5513 degrees F. It is alloyed with platinum and other

- Recently a picture of three men, one holding a plaque of Abraham Lincoln, appeared in a magazine. The dozen-line cut line under it was the entire article. What struck me about the item was the thing which was NOT revealed. Regarding the plaque, here is the total information conveyed: "This original work was designed by a Russian Jewish immigrant sculptor in 1906 and won the national contest for the design for the original 1907 famous 'Lincoln Penny.'"

You may have guessed that the magazine was primarily for Jews, hence the statement that the sculptor was a "Russian Jewish immigrant." But why wasn't his name given? Probably because the names of most humans are not important after they have been deceased for half a century or more, even as talented a sculptor as Victor David Brenner.—GLENN S.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

We regret to be compelled to announce, that in striking our new metallic store cards, the dies were broken and we succeeded only in striking 100 copper, 100 brass, 100 white metal, 20 nickel, and 12 silver pieces. The specimens or trial cards were very fine, but the dies failed from the start, and, when striking the nickel pieces, were completely ruined. We now have sets in copper, brass and white metal at twenty-five cents per set. Mason's Stamp and Coin Collectors' Magazine, 1870.

FEATURING FAKES

DO YOU HAVE THE ORIGINAL?

The USA 1894-S dime is, according to Mr. Yeoman, a real rarity, only 24 coins having been struck.

That was, of course, before the establishment of today's mint in Manila, which specializes in 1894-S dimes.

Nobody's yet received a mint report from Manila, but I've seen two 1894-S specimens from The Philippines in a period of four weeks. Both were well-made, cast counterfeits.

The second specimen which I saw is pictured above, and also the coin is shown enlarged.

The first counterfeit specimen which came my way was bought in Manila by a Mr. X for US $50.

Again, how many times must it be beaten into the collector's skull that, as Confucius would have put it, "Exist no fire sale on key coin!"

Mr. X, the purchaser of that first fake 1894-S, drove all the way to Bellaire to have me give him a letter stating his coin was genuine.

I sat Mr. X down at the stereo 'scope, showed him the cast texture on the obverse, on the reverse, on the edge. I asked him to lend me the coin to have it photo'd, but Mr. X refused, took his "gem" and drove back to his home city.

Within two weeks I received a letter from another collector, a Miss YZ, in that city, stating that, since Mr. X had stated I had authenticated that 1894-S dime, Miss YZ had acquized the coin and, she asked, would I please give her a letter to the effect that the coin was genuine. Naturally I fired off a hot reply that the coin was a cast counterfeit and that I had shown Mr. X that it was a cast job, Mr. X having seen the cast texture with his own eyes through a 30-x stereo 'scope. I've heard nothing further from Mr. X nor Miss YZ.

But I learn quickly.

When I received the second 1894-S fake, shown here, I refused to return it to the owner. My bank tells me that the owner's lawyer has made extensive inquiry about me, so I expect a lawsuit any day. And that's gonna be a lot of good, clean fun, folks, with the U.S. State Department not wanting to bruise the feelings of The Philippines State Department in what they call an "international incident."

PROOF MAKING

BY LEON T. LINDHEIM

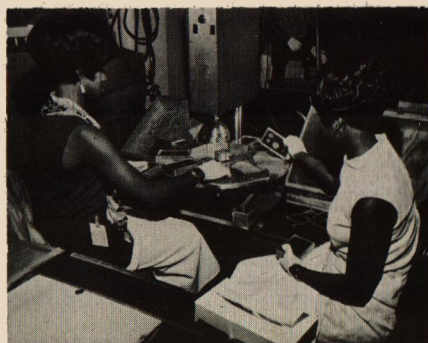

Following the striking of each proof coin, there is a careful inspection of both obverse and reverse. The coin has been struck twice and bears the S mintmark.

For the Junior

With coin presses in the background, an employee checks polished planchets in preparation for striking 1970 proof half-dollars.

Photographed in the proof room at San Francisco are employees encasing the 1970 proof sets.

All employees handling proof coins must wear gloves. Here they can be seen inspecting the coins prior to packaging.

Several months ago Mrs. Mary T. Brooks, director of the Mint, presented to the employees of the San Francisco Mint a plaque which reads:

"In recognition and appreciation of their outstanding contribution in the public interest by their highly efficient processing of the 1970 Proof Coin set orders."

The actual presentation was made to the personable and efficient John F. Brekle, officer in charge of the San Francisco Assay Office, who directed the handling of over 800,000 different orders, which will result in the striking of approximately 2,900,000 proof sets in 1970.

Witnessing this occasion gave me the opportunity to view the complete operation of this assay office. Robert B. Bridges, assistant officer in charge, provided me with a most knowledgeable guide in the person of Carl T. Borchart, supervisor of coin production. If my reporting is in error, it can only be from my lack of attention or understanding, because Mr. Borchert was a most competent guide and instructor.

Some of you may be confused because I have referred to the San Francisco Mint and also to the San Francisco Assay Office. This imposing building, opened in 1937, was the third building used as the San Francisco Mint and at the time was the most modern mint in existence. In March of 1955, because of improved conditions at the Philadelphia and Denver Mints, operations ceased and all equipment for coining removed. Most of the building was used by other government agencies except a small area set aside for assaying gold and silver. But when it became apparent in late 1963 that a coin shortage was in the making, emergency measures were taken to utilize more of the building and minting equipment was again brought into the building. Finally, the Coinage Act of 1965, approved by President Johnson on July 23, 1965, allowed full minting operations to be resumed and by September 1 the first coins were struck after an interval of ten years. But since the facility is not designated a U. S. Mint, officially it is the San Francisco Assay Office, operating as a mint.

First off, it is best to have a general idea of how coins are produced. First, ingots are rolled into strips of the proper thickness. Next a blanking operation produces the planchets (blanks), which go through a riddler which culls out the defective blanks. The good blanks are then cleaned and annealed, after which they go through a machine which puts on the raised edge. This latter step is called upsetting. The upset blanks are then selectively inspected and weighed, after which they go to the coin presses.

With the manufacturing of proof coins, the flawless gems that we take for granted, much more work is involved. The selected blanks receive an additional cleaning with soap and cream of tartar, followed by a special burnishing which is accomplished by using unusual oval shaped steel balls mixed in with the planchets and then violently shaken. This is followed by further cleaning and hand drying with spotless white towels, at which time a visual inspection is made of both sides of each planchet.

Even though the working dies were prepared at the Philadelphia Mint, they are reinspected at San Francisco by operators using magnifying glasses. And if additional polishing is needed to give the "field" of the coin a mirror-like finish, this is done with diamond dust at this time.

The press operators receive the blanks untouched by human hands except on the edge. The operators keep the dies dust free and here too, the coins are never touched, except on the edge. The presses are set up to strike each coin twice and after every few double strikes, the press operators, using magnifying glasses, inspect their products for possible imperfections. When any coins start to show flaws the die or dies are discarded. Whereas the regular coinage dies usually can be used to strike up to 800,000 for 1¢ pieces and up to 200,000 of the other coin denominations, a proof coin dies life is from 2,000 to 4,000 strikes. This inspection by the press operator can also reveal the mirror-like finish is not as pronounced as it should be. If this is so, then the operator will hand polish the dies with diamond dust on cotton batting. This is usually necessary after about ten coins have been struck. This is quite understandable since the presses exert about 35 tons of pressure when striking 1¢ pieces, 70 to 80 tons for 5¢, 10¢ and 25¢ and about 100 tons for 50¢.

In spite of all this, when a final inspection is made, at the time of packaging, there is still a 15% rejection rate of the coins that do not come up to the stringent mint standards.

Finally comes the packaging. Here the young ladies doing this job wear white cotton gloves, all to insure that no scratches or finger prints appear on any coin.

Our Treasury Department not only demands perfection in its proof coins, its pride of workmanship is reflected in the beautiful plastic cases in which it delivers the sets to the purchasers.

Since 1968 I have heard many complaints because these 91¢ worth of coins cost $5. After viewing the operations I can assure the readers that buyers of U.S. proof coins are receiving a bargain, and would even if the price were doubled. So I, too, would like to add my congratulations, along with the many that he has received, to John F. Brekle, Officer in Charge, San Francisco Assay Office, for a job well done.

THE TOKEN COLLECTORS' PAGE

by Melvin Fuld, ANA 11932

Although few tokens appear today depicting the names of stores, merchants, warehouses, and services, etc., it was once very popular and quite commonly seen. Communication during the 1800s was, of course, very limited and the merchant's token served as a simple and inexpensive media of advertising his business. Many such tokens were employed to solicit business by offering free a certain amount of trade in token to a customer after a rather large purchase. This would naturally insure their return to the shop and in the process, appeal to other unfamiliar patrons. It certainly proved to be a successful method of promotion and, needless to say, created a challenging field of collecting to the numismatist.

Below, are a few examples of early bakery tokens struck in the late 1800s.

Reverse: In three lines, GOOD FOR / 5¢ / IN CAKES.

Mrs. Catherine Sperry of California was browsing in a coin dealer's shop and came across one of the writer's Civil War token books. She felt that I would be interested in seeing one her grandfather's mavericks.

Robert Schulze operated a bakery which, incidentally, still stands today in North LaCrosse, Wisconsin. It is a brick building with a stone insert near the top reading, "R. Schulze / 18__," the date is unknown to Mrs. Sperry.

The tokens were struck in the late 1800s. Schulze came to the U.S. from Germany with his parents about 1850. The bakery produced all kinds of breads, as well as cakes, pastries and German tortes. He married Louise Opetz of La Crosse. They observed their 50th anniversary in 1910. Schulze retired from the bakery in 1908 turning the business over to his son (Mrs. Sperry's father), Arthur R. Schulze. The elder Schulze died in 1915. The younger one operated the bakery for five years then sold it to someone who still operates it today.

The Rose Bakery token is very rare, only two are known to exist.

Metal: brass. Size: Octagonal 14. Border: no. 1; edge, no. 1. Issued: about 1870. Not listed in Adams or Wright.

Five Named to Hall of Fame

Results of the voting by the panel of electors in the 1970 Numismatic Hall of Fame were announced at the awards presentation meeting at the 79th anniversary convention in St. Louis. Balloting revealed the election of five to be enshrined in the Numismatic Hall of Fame.

1929 National Bank Note Issues New Publication Now Ready

The Society of Paper Money Collectors announces a new publication dealing with the National Bank Note Issues of 1929, printed and produced by Hewitt Bros., Chicago, is now ready for distribution through the numismatic dealers at $9.00.

The publication of this work fills a void in that it covers many heretofore unpublished facts about the National Bank Note Issues of 1929. The work has been accomplished through the diligent efforts of authors M. Owen Warns, Peter Huntoon and Louis Van Belkum together with contributions from Johnny O. Bass, Richard L. Hood, John T. Hickman and John T. Waters. The hard-cover book is made up of 220 large size pages and has more than 275 illustrations of notes.

The laws governing and the historical background in connection with the issuance of the 1929 National Bank notes are covered by Peter Huntoon. He has also set forth an outline of the then new departure instituted by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in the printing, numbering and production methods employed in the manufacture of this particular issue of notes, which differed from any previous notes issued by the Bureau. An accompanying detailed account of the many different type face fonts and the varied punctuation marks found in the bank name formats will afford the researcher much more new information.

Extremely interesting is the revealing information surrounding the replacement notes (supplementaries) heretofore unreported. This is a subject not previously explained due to lack of definite information on the possibility of their existence.

Following are some of the highlights discussed: notes of Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia; notes from the highest numbered chartered bank to have issued notes; a note from the last shipment of notes to a National Bank (2 months after the issue had ended); a note bearing charter number 13308, succeeding number to 13307, the City National Bank of Niles, Mich., the highest numbered chartered bank to issue the large size Third Charter Period notes; the intriguing story and charts of the elusive Type 2 $50 and $100 notes, and listing those banks that circulated these notes and the amounts of each by bank; list of those banks with "UNITED STATES" in their title as well as those with "FEDERAL"; the thrice titled charter 10527 of Detroit, all three names used within the Type 1 issuing period.

Still other phases of collecting these notes are shown that include such categories as religion, the military, industry, finances, the Indians, mining, agriculture, private named banks, animals, etc. Another interesting sidelight is covering the notes issued by banks of the first 100 chartered, as well as the listing of multi-numbered charters and multi-numbered serials, all of which are shown and described.

Louis Van Belkum has set forth a complete listing of all the 1929 National Bank notes issued. In addition, he has noted those reported to have been seen in circulation. This listing of the 1929 notes is by far the most comprehensive and complete ever compiled for any one of the ten bank-note issuing segments of the First, Second or Third Charter issuing periods, the 1929 National Bank notes belonging to the Third Charter Period.

The early struggles of the Bank of Italy (later the Bank of America with the largest aggregation of wealth ever assembled under one banking management in the history of mankind) have been covered by M. Owen Warns. It had issued to it two and a half times greater amounts of 1929 National Bank notes than its next nearest rival. Interesting is the meteoric rise of Amadeo P. Giannini from obscurity to the top rung in the banking business as a result of his sheer determination in overcoming the many obstacles that beset him. Many facets are covered, such as the small organization with its meager initial capitalization (it was known as the "Baby Bank"); the devastating San Francisco earthquake; the highly restrictive competition by local San Francisco banks to prevent his establishing branch banking, in which he eventually prevailed; the blocking tactics of the Federal Reserve Board to prevent Giannini from setting up a coast-to-coast banking organization, this huge banking company becoming known as The Trans-America Bank.

Discussed also are the depression of 1933-1935; the complex administrative problems resulting from the absorption of 49 National Banks during the eight-year period of 1927-1935.

The section devoted to sheets of 1929 National Bank issues lists 545 sheets with many illustrations of rarities and types. Shown for the first time in any currency publication is a $100 sheet, the only such sheet reported to have been saved intact.

The collector and researcher alike will find this publication a fascinating source of study, making available valuable information not only enlightening but pleasurable as well. As a matter of fact, how better could you spend a quiet evening than to become engrossed in this exciting diversion?

In addition to the many dealers who will have this publication for sale, it can be ordered at $9.00 from M. O. Warns, Treasurer of the Society of Paper Money Collectors, P.O. Box 1840, Milwaukee, Wis. 53201. Please make remittance payable to M. O. Warns, Treasurer.

Mack Barth
ANA 38260

Mack Barth, 65, of Santa Monica California, passed away in June after a lengthy illness.

He was an active ANA member for over 10 years and had attended several national conventions. He, along with his wife, Gertrude, were active members of the California State Numismatic Association, the Numismatic Association of Southern California, the Culver City Coin Club, the Israel Coin Club of Los Angeles, and the Bay Cities Coin Club of Santa Monica. Both he and his wife served in many official capacities. —JLB.

Arthur Q. Himes
ANA 13007

Arthur Q. (Doc) Himes, 73, of Ontario, Ohio, died in a local nursing home in July following an extended illness.

He was a charter member of the Mansfield Stamp and Coin Club, Mansfield, Ohio, and was president in 1959. He had been an active member of the club throughout the years until illness forced a retirement from all activities.

Himes joined the ANA in 1946 and was one of the oldest ANA members in Richland County at the time of his death. His collecting specialty was American coins.

He retired from Westinghouse Corporation after 29 years as a tool maker. Besides being an avid coin collector, he also enjoyed fishing, making his own lures, and woodworking.

Himes is survived by his wife, Lula Mae, and one brother, James S. Himes, of Massillon, Ohio. —EM.

Charles R. Ross
ANA 5071

Charles R. Ross, 71, Okmulgee, Oklahoma, died on July 13, in a Tulsa hospital. Ross, known as "Uncle Charley" to collectors young and old, was a charter member and past president of both the Tulsa and Oklahoma City Coin Clubs. He joined the ANA in 1936 and specialized in U.S. coins.

Ross was born in Missouri and came to Dewar, Okla., in 1919 to operate a grocery store. In 1927 he moved to Okmulgee and bought the Wide Awake Coffee Company. He was also an avid stamp collector.

Ross is survived by his wife, Elva; three sons, Rodney, Okmulgee; Charles, Stillwater; and George, Wichita, Kansas; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellen Skidmore; and eight grandchildren. —CJS.

George Leon Tilden

Senior member, both as a past ANA official and in continuous years of membership, George Leon Tilden of Northboro, Mass., passed away after a brief illness on July 2, at the age of 97. He was actively engaged in the antique business with his surviving son, L. Richard Tilden, until shortly prior to his demise.

Tilden joined the association January 20, 1908, as number 959 and was the last remaining member with a number below 1,000. He later was assigned number 14 which he used until he was awarded an honorary membership in the early 1950s. He received the 25-Year Continuous membership award in 1948 and the Gold 50-Year Membership award in 1962. He was elected general secretary at the 1910 New York convention and served the year 1911 in that post. When W.C.C. Wilson purchased The Numismatist from Farran Zerbe and presented it to the ANA in late 1910 its place of publication was moved to Worcester, Mass., and George L. Tilden became its first business manager with past president Alfred R. Frey, as editor.

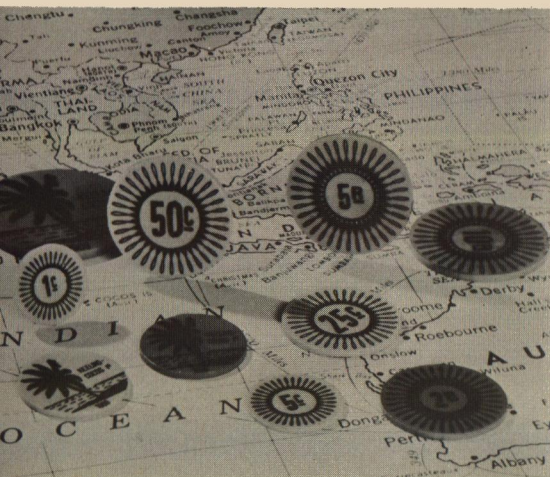

Local papers gave glowing accounts of this transfer to Worcester due to the fact that three of its prominent citizens were active in the new venture. Tilden was ANA secretary, N. E. Converse, treasurer and Charles T. Tatman, ANA No. 2, and its first secretary, all combined to give The Numismatist, now an ANA owned house organ, its initial start. Tatman held the business manager's post until February, 1912.

Tilden's collection specialties were U.S. half dimes, store cards, hard time tokens and fractional currency. He held a life membership in the Boston Numismatic Society. The ANA bids a sad farewell to still another dedicated member who contributed his time and efforts in pioneering The Numismatist and organized numismatics.

LATE WORLD COIN NEWS

"Minted" in Keeling-Cocos

KEELING-COCOS ISLANDS

The Newest Mint

Plastic is now hard cash in this South Sea island paradise—a remote group of atolls in the Indian Ocean have minted what appears to be the first legal tender from acetal copolymer. Celcon acetal copolymer is a high-strength plastic developed and produced by Celanese Plastics Company of the U.S.

Red plastic rupees and green plastic cents are used by the 600 or more Keeling-Cocos Islanders to buy bread or, more likely, coconuts. A coconut palm decorates the obverse side of each new plastic token, because copra or dried coconut is the main business of the 27 small islands some 1,720 miles northwest of Australia. Uncrowned king of the islands is John Clunies-Ross, whose family has owned and ruled the 5½ square miles of atoll since 1886.

The old Cocos "coins" were once made of ivory. But after 60 years most were badly worn and hard to replace. A new currency was needed that was as light in weight and as tough as the old. The choice narrowed down, after trials of many other materials, to acetal copolymer, a tough, high strength plastic widely used to replace metal in autos, appliances and hardware.

Celcon acetal copolymer is a product of Celanese Plastics Company, Newark, N.J., whose predecessor company coincidentally produced "Celluloid," the first commercial plastic, as a substitute for ivory in billiard balls. Celluloid and other plastics have since been used to make scrip and subway tokens, but not "coin of the realm."

The Keeling-Cocos Islands now have their own small injection molding machine that mints red rupees in 1, 2, 5, 10 and 25 rupee denominations, as well as green 1, 5, 10, 25 and 50-cent pieces. The coconut palm design and denomination are silk-screened with a special ink that penetrates below the surface of the plastic discs. Baking the discs in an ordinary kitchen oven at a controlled temperature thermally "fixes" the design in the plastic so that it resists wear or abrasion.

A 10-cent set of the new Keeling-Cocos Island currency costs coin collectors $25.00—which should buy a lot of coconuts in any currency.

the U.S. Mint in Philadelphia, Mary T. Brooks, director of the Mint, announced.

Miniature medals of Presidents Nixon, Kennedy and Eisenhower are now available and engravers are completing the dies of the two living former Presidents, Johnson and Truman, which will be on sale later this month. It is expected the entire miniature series of the Presidential medals will be completed within a year to 18 months.

These medals are bronze, size 1-5/16" and are duplicates of the official 3" Presidential medals. They may be purchased over the counter at the Philadelphia Mint at 50-cents each and by mail order for 60-cents. The miniature Presidential medals may also be purchased over the counter at the Denver Mint as each becomes available.

In announcing the new miniature medals, Mrs. Brooks said the series was conceived to make a medal at a price attractive to young people.

"Since I took office in September of 1969," Mrs. Brooks said, "I have been impressed with the number of young people who visit the Mints at Philadelphia and Denver. During May, June and July, approximately 4,000 people each day have visited at the two mints. Of these 8,000 daily visitors the majority were of elementary and high school age. I want to reach these young people with educational and historical material about the U.S. Mint and make available items for purchase in their price range."

The launching of the new miniature Presidential series coincides with the establishment of a new numismatic agency at the Philadelphia Mint.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

INFORMATION WANTED—A handsome reward will be paid to any party informing us from whence and whom came the report that the Fewsmith Cabinet of coins had been tampered with before the sale of October 4, and that all the choice cents in that collection had been reserved for private parties. This vile report lessened the pecuniary results of said sale, and we wish to publish the name of the miscreant who would seek to undervalue and injure another's private property for selfish motives.—Mason's Stamp and Coin Collectors' Magazine, 1870.

No convention badges were provided for the 1922 meeting held in New York City. It was reported in The Numismatist that, "The cost of a really artistic medal metal badge has become almost prohibitive and members do not care to wear an ordinary ribbon and celluloid decoration. The absence of badges did not work any hardship or inconvenience and perhaps stimulated the sale of the official ANA badge and bars."

"No convention badges were provided for this year's meeting. The cost of a really artistic metal badge had become prohibitive and members did not care to wear an ordinary ribbon and celluloid decoration. Business sessions were conducted at the building of the American Fine Arts Society while the Great Northern Hotel served as headquarters. The convention was in session from Aug. 26 through Aug. 31 with the New York Numismatic Club serving as host. The event attracted 95 registrants.

QUANTITIES The exact quantities of SM 2 and SM 2a are unknown. Only one gold specimen was struck, that being the one presented to President Wormser. This medal is still in the possession of the Wormser family.

ISSUE PRICES SM 2—$2.50, SM 2a—$7.50.

The gold medal was presented to President Wormser during the first business session of the convention on behalf of the association and personal friends by Edward T. Newell, ANA board member and president of the American Numismatic Society. Mr. Wormser's absence from the United States for four months prior to the convention enabled those who arranged for the striking of the medal to do so without knowledge of it reaching him. The medal was presented in the name of the ANA, but the cost of it was borne by a considerable number of association friends who remained anonymous. The issue of the gold medal had the approval of the board of governors, as did the bronze and silver issues. The cost of striking these medals, bronze and silver, was borne by the association and also handled the sale of same.

ADDITIONAL COMMITTEE REPORTS

The following reports were omitted from publication in the September issue of The Numismatist because of space limitations. These two reports are part of the Official Officers' Reports 1969-1970 distributed at the opening business meeting, August 19, in St. Louis, Missouri.

National Coin Week

For the first time in many years, judging for National Coin Week was limited to the participation performed by the entrants for National Coin Week alone. In the past, events scheduled from the first of the year through National Coin Week, and later all events scheduled by clubs or individuals from Christmas parties through summer picnics were submitted as "National Coin Week participation." This year it was limited to what was actually done and judged on its merits toward promoting coin collecting and National Coin Week.

Participation was a little more than double that of the previous year, over 69 scrapbooks and reports were submitted. In the field of judging, the judges refused to award a first place, second or third place in some categories feeling that enough effort had not been expended on the part of the entrants to qualify for an award.

As in the past, the smaller the club — the greater the effort. Both Class B and Class C entries dominated the field. Strong support for this year's theme came from all the numismatic publications. This year's judges included Harold H. Hartman, John Dunn, and Clark A. Yowell. Committee members include Peggy Borgolte, Lee Martin, Clark A. Yowell, and Opal H. Morris.

Bourse Selection Committee

Again preparations were made to accommodate 122 dealers at the 79th Anniversary Convention of the ANA in St. Louis, Missouri. A total 170 applications were received and reviewed by the board of governors at their February meeting. Notification letters were sent on March 4, 1970.

There have been several instances in the past of dealers failing to submit applications, and, therefore, the board of governors will review its procedures of notification. The result of the board's deliberation will be effective for the ANA convention in Washington, D.C. August 10-14, 1971. Adequate news coverage of any changes will be made and published in The Numismatist.

SUMMER PRICES IN AUTUMN! UNCIRCULATED TYPE COINS, HALF CENTS TO DOLLARS, 1794 TO 20TH CENTURY

What is a "Type Coin"? It's a cheap date for display, such as an 1883 No-6 nickel to show how the Liberty Nickel looks. A type set is a collection just to show the different coin designs. A nickel type set, for example, would include: one ½-dime (nickel predecessor) two Shield 5¢ (rays, no-rays) two Liberty 5¢ (¢, no-¢) two Bison 5¢ (mound, plane) and two Jefferson 5¢ (nickel & silver-composition). The Type Collection offers economy and portability. While a regular nickel date-mint set is 205 pieces (cost 4 figures or more) the nickel type set is an inexpensive 9 coins. This ad is all nice type coins, ½¢ to $1.

By hunting you might find cheaper-quotes. That kind of cheap is much too expensive. I quote cheap—but unlike most ads I define what Unc. is and then state what quality Unc. each coin is, MS60, 65 or 70. When my prices are not cheap you will see correspondingly high quality coins, the MS65s and 70s. I have no choice but to meet competition prices. I'll not only meet them — I'll teach right in my ad how to tell a bargain ad bum "Unc." — from a real Unc!

UNCIRCULATED GRADE DEFINED: A FOOTNOTE TO BROWN & DUNN. In my last months ad was a proof detecting guide. Following is a guide how to tell uncirculated. If it serves you and your collecting in general, I hope it may earn me an order from you for your type coin needs.

CRAIG'S UNC. CHECKLIST — HOW TO TELL UNCIRCULATED FROM CIRCULATED

- (1) Use magnifying glass.
- (2) Use sunlight or bulb light. (Soft or indirect light hides things.)
- (3) True Unc. shows no wear & full mint frost. Inexpensive books which show where wear starts on U.S. coins: Brown-Dunn grader, Gettys-Catch "AU or BU" on commens.
- (4) Coins lose mint frost off high points before wear shows. Mint frost reflects arcs & bands of luster which sparkle when magnified.
- (5) Slight wear may show as (A) micro abrasions in fields and/or (B) mint frost worn

- faint (dulled) especially in obverse fields so that brighter frost in periphery area contrasts with fainter center frost.
- (6) Intolerable rim dings, scratches & spots require downgrading Unc. to AU or less.
- (7) Likewise weak strikes — except Uncs. always weak struck (1922P 1¢, 1918/75 ¼, 1921 Peace $1, etc.)
- (8) Compare Unc. in question with other Uncs. same age & metal—U.S. coins only. (If looks are much different, watch out for overgrading.)
- (9) "Processed Unc." means non-Unc. with a

- fake mint frost typically too faint, too uniform, or too grainy. Trap ads sell these graded as Unc. at "bargain" prices.
- (10) Fake mint frost may show: (A) remnants true mint frost as halos within & around letters & stars; (B) myriad hairlines under a glass; (C) blurring of fine details.
- (11) "Processed Unc." comes chemically re-colored to look not newly cleaned.
- (12) Aged coin tarnish is often multicolor. Artificial color is usually all one strange color.
- (13) Artificial color is too pale, or is garish

- compared to aged tarnish, like "pop art" compared to Rembrandt.
- (14) Watch for overgrading if finger on coin's leading edge changes edge color.
- (15) Weighing coins is useless for grading. (NSM article has shown fairs barely underweight and fine grades at mint weight.)
- (16) All Uncs. in this ad conform to the recognized standards for true Unc. just stated MS-60 means average Unc. MS-65 means choice Unc. MS-70 means gem Unc. In-betweens are rated 62, 67, etc.

Meet The Show-Off

A flashy, new coin-holding invention

This is the new coin-holding invention that lives up to its name. It's a Show-Off.

For a starter, the screws are gone. For a closing, the Show-Off snaps shut for safety and security. A raised edge eliminates scratches and keeps its good looks. The Show-Offs were made for each other, so they stack neatly. They're tough. Both the insert and case are made of the highest quality plexiglas.

If you're a retailer, there's no business like the Show-Off business, to coin an expression.

If you're a distributor, buy the Show-Off and be one. It's a great new collector's item for collectors' items.

Case made of clear plexiglas. Inserts of black, white, red or blue plexiglas.

Case  $3\frac{3}{8}$ " x  $3\frac{3}{8}$ " x  $\frac{3}{8}$ " thick.

Insert  $3 \times 3 \times \frac{1}{8}$ " thick.

Single title line free.

Additional printing is 8¢ per character extra.

Coin or medal size to your specification.

Cost—$1.95

Seldom Offered Bar-Kochba Revolt Bronze Coins

Between the years 132-135 A.D. the Land of Israel led by Simon Bar-Kochba rose in rebellion against Roman rule. At first successful but soon crushed by the Emperor Hadrian these rare, hand struck, highly preserved bronze coins are a memento of this brief resurgence that led to the dispersal of the Judean people.

Superior Stamp & Coin Co., Inc. acquired the entire Pradeau collection. Items featured in the September sale were hand picked for quality, rarity and historical interest.

Superior Stamp and Coin Co., Inc. has acquired a limited supply in sharp Very Fine condition of medium and large size bronze coins of the Second Revolt. These introductions to biblical numismatics listed as Reifenberg 204 and 206 are seldom offered and hardly ever in as fine a condition. An impressive Certificate of Authenticity, complete with photo and seal accompanies each of these rare specimens.

THE NEW STANDARD REFERENCE BOOK FOR GRADING U.S. COINS

Up to now, coin grading has been the single biggest problem in numismatics. Books available were either inadequate or incomplete. Some references showed only a few types of coins and most of them contained illustrations and descriptions of only one side of a coin. Others used line drawings which simply could not accurately show wear. Often, serious and costly mistakes have been made in grading due to the lack of explicit grading instructions. A new grading reference book just published by an internationally-known professional numismatist solves the grading problem forever. The title of this important new book is PHOTOGRADE: A Photographic Grading Guide For United States Coins.

PHOTOGRADE contains more than 1000 top quality, high resolution coin photographs which, along with the accompanying accurately detailed OBVERSE/REVERSE descriptions, will enable you to expertly grade any U.S. coin . . . even Colonial coins! Never again will you have to wonder how the reverse of a particular grade should look or speculate as to how much wear it should show. PHOTOGRADE actually shows you!

And PHOTOGRADE is more than just photographs. It is a wealth of concise information valuable to any collector. For example, did you know that without expensive equipment, you can perform a quick test on practically any coin which immediately spots crude casts and electrotypes fakes? It is information that, alone, is worth more than the $4.95 price of the book. In PHOTOGRADE, you will also read about how to grade Colonial coins! A number of coin photographs show such interesting variations as die breaks, overdates, reengraved dates and adjustment marks. As noted numismatist Q. David Bowers writes in the book's foreword, "The reader is the benefactor."

We want to let PHOTOGRADE prove its value to you with an unconditional, guaranteed FREE TRIAL OFFER. We realize that this book is of no value to you unless it can save you money and PREVENT YOU FROM MAKING COSTLY GRADING MISTAKES. Send your order in today. A copy of PHOTOGRADE will be mailed to you POSTPAID immediately. Examine it, read it and check the coins in your own collection for TEN FULL DAYS. If, at the end of that time, you are not completely satisfied with the book, return it to us and every cent of the $4.95 purchase price will be refunded. Charge it to your Master Charge Account or send your remittance of $4.95 (Cal. residents add 5% sales tax) to:

CASH ADVANCE

THAT'S RIGHT ! ! ! ! We will advance a percentage of the fair retail value of your collection immediately upon receipt. Please send inventory first — do not send coins until you hear from us. We will then sell your collection at one of our forthcoming auction sales and you will receive your final settlement within 30 days after the sale. Our commission rates are always reasonable.

During the time that your coins are in our possession they are stored in our protected and insured vaults. When you receive your advance check, if for any reason you are not satisfied with the amount of the check, just return it and your coins will be returned postpaid.

In many cases our advance will be almost equal to others offer of outright purchase.

If you are not currently on our mailing list, just drop us a postcard with your full name and address and we will place your name on our catalogue mailing list.

REMEMBER — It is not too late to have your collection included in our next outstanding auction sale.

OUR SALES ARE USUALLY HELD IN THE PARKER HOUSE

We are always in need of desirable numismatic material and will be happy to travel anywhere in the world to acquire it — either for auction or for outright purchase provided the value of the material warrants it.

NO COLLECTION IS TOO LARGE — We will furnish bank references upon request.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES — Continued

F622 and F648: $10 and $20, Red Seal, Series 1902. The First Nat. Bank of OAKFORD, ILLINOIS, Charter #8256, dated May 29, 1906. Pen-sigs. "Elias Watthius" (?), Cashier; "M.O. Atterbery", President. Both notes from the same sheet, Fed. Serial #R312947 on both, with Plate "B" for the $10 (was 2nd note of the original sheet, and of course Plate "A" for the $20.) Both also bank SHEET #1, lower left corner. Both notes are unc., with the $10 a bit brighter than the $20. The cutting of the sheet left something to be desired, as the $10 is a bit close on top, and the bottom border has part of what was "Plate" C. The $20 appears to have been separated by tearing against a ruler, rather than by scissors. Why this occurred is anybody's guess. However, both notes are quite presentable, and the Lyons-Treat sigs comb. in this series is very scarce. A $475 book value; as a pair only	225.00
